The EEB is funded by a $100m grant from the U.S. DOE. It's mission is to assist building owners and occupants in reducing energy usage 20% by 2020.

The City of Camden's POWER Commercial Loan program, initiated with a $5 million investment from the U.S. Department of Energy, is offering incentives to local business owners to reduce energy consumption through energy efficient building upgrades. NJCC, a leader in innovative financial solutions, will present details of the POWER Program, which provides loans of up to $1 million and EEB Hub, the DOE-funded leader in energy research & technology, will present cutting-edge knowledge on performing smarter retrofits.

ATTENTION CAMDEN HOME OWNERS!

- Do you want to save BIG on your home energy bills?
- Do you want to improve your home?

You're eligible for the Camden Power Program if:

- You've owned your home for at least one year
- You're current on tax, water and sewer bills
- You have Homeowners or Fire Insurance
- You want to save energy & money!

Camden POWER will help - with no out of pocket costs to you!

POWER makes homes safer and more energy efficient-new roofs, siding, insulation and heating systems. Homeowners who qualify will save at least 25% of their home's energy!
